By saving on technology costs, organizations can redirect funds toward upgrading and innovating their tech infrastructure to drive future growth and efficiency. Here are five ways that Stratix can help you do that.

1 Telecom Expense Management

Stratix TEM gives you complete visibility and control over your telecom expenses. Our software platform automates the management of data plans, carrier contracts, and device inventories, identifying inefficiencies like unused lines, incorrect fees, and overages. Paired with our expert analysts who audit bills and negotiate directly with carriers, Stratix TEM eliminates unnecessary costs and streamlines spending. On average, we save customers 4% annually, with some achieving savings in the hundreds of thousands.

2 Connectivity

Stratix Connectivity saves you money by leveraging SmartSIM technology and pooled data plans. SmartSIM ensures devices always connect to the strongest available network, reducing disruptions and improving productivity. Pooled data eliminates overage charges by distributing unused data across all users, optimizing overall costs. Combined with Stratix's proactive management of connectivity services, businesses can streamline their telecom expenses, maintain reliable connections, and achieve significant savings while ensuring seamless operations.

3 Print Consumables

We offer better solutions for sourcing and managing essential printing supplies like paper, labels, ink, and toner. Through smarter procurement practices and partnerships with trusted providers, Stratix costs you less than traditional suppliers. We also track your consumption so you never run out of what you need.

4 Freight

Customers can ship devices and peripherals on our freight account, saving you 20 percent or more. By leveraging Stratix's large-scale logistics operations to ship your devices and peripherals, you can tap into reduced carrier rates that outmatch the higher costs you may be paying on your own. This advantage helps you streamline logistics, cut expenses, and free up valuable budget for other strategic initiatives—all while enjoying the peace of mind that comes with reliable, on-time deliveries and dedicated customer support.

5 IT Asset Disposition

Stratix saves businesses money through IT Asset Disposition (ITAD) by turning old technology into recoverable value. Our ITAD services ensure devices are wiped of sensitive data, meeting compliance standards, while maximizing residual value through resale or recycling programs. Additionally, our partnership with philanthropic organizations like Techtonic offers an opportunity to donate devices for tax benefits, creating both financial and social impact.
